Gas Tax Hike Cut Try Set

Farm Bureau Petition Drive Would Kill It

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

The Farm Bureau Federation launched a petition campaign Monday seeking repeal of the seven-cent gas tax passed by the 1957 Legislature.

State Engineer L. N. Rens, in an immediate reply to the announced campaign, said state planning of highway construction including the Interstate, would practically grind to a halt.

Rens said the Highway Department could make no highway construction commitments or plans beyond the expected date of the six-cent gas tax law.

The Legislature passed LB 375, increasing the gasoline tax from six to seven cents, to become effective Sept. 20. Under the law now in effect, the six-cent tax would revert to five cents on May 9, 1959, unless other legislation is passed.

Three Reasons
In a report by the Farm Bureau board of directors, the body gave three reasons for approving the petition drive: a general opposition to increasing the gas tax, opposition to changing the county apportionment and opposition to "diverting highway funds to other purposes."

The last was a reference to LB 54, passed and signed by the governor, which provides for moving or relocating utilities along the right-of-way of the Interstate Highway.

The bill as introduced would have applied to all utilities located along present rent-free easements on all federal aid road construction projects.

Amended
The original bill was opposed by the Highway Department, but not in its amended form, which includes only the Interstate.

State Engineer Rens said LB 54 "would do no such thing" as divert highway user funds to other purposes. Rens said the Highway Department would have to pay for relocation costs of utilities regardless of the bill, and even these will be paid on a 90-10 basis.

Under this matching program, the federal government pays $9 to every $1 put up by the state. Rens said the only major costs to the state would be in the Lincoln-Omaha area of Interstate construction, which Rens said

House-Okayed Bill Has Money For Land At LAFB

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Monday tentatively approved a bill authorizing armed forces expenditures that included $37,000 for land acquisition at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The measure also includes $249,000 for maintenance facilities at the Sioux Ordnance Depot at Sidney and $7,681,000 for Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha.

The Offutt amount would be for operation, training, maintenance, supply and community facilities, troop housing, utilities, ground improvements and land acquisition.

'Muddy' Picture Painted In Creek Control Appeal

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

A picture of muddy parlors and warped oak flooring was painted to the City Council by a delegation from University Place which demanded action to control explosive Dead Man's Run.

In a later conference with City Engineer Carl Fisher, the group said it plans to demand work by the Sanitary District on the straightening, deepening and widening of the creek channel.

In return, the picture painted by the city was not discouraging.

Finished This Year
Public Works Director D. L. Erickson reported that new city bridges, now bottlenecks to the free flow of Dean Man's Run at 33rd and 48th, would be completed this fiscal year. Fisher reported that the city structure at 52nd and Francis might also be done this year.

This would leave only the Holdrege Street bridge to be completed.

Erickson also noted that the Rock Island has completed a new crossing of Dean Man's Run and Burlington is working on a new bridge which should be finished in August.

According to Fisher, an old county road bridge near the mouth of Dead Man's will probably be removed and not replaced.

In Doubt
This leaves in doubt only the status of the State Highway Department bridge crossing Dead Man's near Adams. The board of Sanitary District 1 has appointed one of its members, George Knight, to discuss the state bridge problem with Gov. Victor E. Anderson.

The District has reported it is ready to move in with its channel improvement work as soon as bridges are completed.

The Council was told by Ward Justus, 3634 St. Paul, that Dead Man's Run, due to the residential growth of the city within its drainage district, is no longer a ditch but a major creek.

Water from the creek in the flood of July 1, he said, backed up at the bridge crossings and reached as high as two and three inches into the ground floor of some homes. A heavy residue of mud was left in the water's wake, he said, and now hardwood floors are beginning to buckle and warp and must be replaced.

Others who spoke along those same lines included Don T. Hansen, 3331 St. Paul, and Thomas Brooks, 3301 St. Paul.

In another report, the Council was advised by City Planning Engineer Douglas Brodgen that the proposed Army Corps of Engineers' dam at 56th and Normal on Antelope Creek requires study of what can and will be done with the dam area.

The proposed site, he said, is right in the path of the direction of Lincoln's growth. The permanent development of the dam area, he said, will have a substantial effect upon the city's growth.

The city, he warned, could not afford an unattractive lake in this area.

Under the federal plans, the dam would be built by the government but its maintenance would become a local responsibility.

Problems relating to Dead Man's Run and the entire Salt-Wahou watershed are to be aired at a meeting this Thursday noon at the Cornhusker Hotel. Called by the Chamber of Commerce flood control committee, the expressed purpose of the meeting is to establish an overall flood control coordinating committee.

More Objection To Rock Island Grade Crossing

More objection has been made to a proposed grade crossing of the Rock Island tracks for Van Dorn. Attorney Miles Johnston told the City Council that evidence of need for the crossing has not yet been presented. A public hearing on the need for the crossing should be held, he said.

Johnston presented petitions bearing 75 signatures in the area of the crossing opposed to the opening. He also told the Council the crossing would present a traffic hazard for which the city would be legally responsible.

Ike Picks Cape Cod Rest Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has picked the spot where he hopes to vacation. The White House indicated Monday it is in the Cape Cod, Mass., general area.

But, press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen, there still is no certainty the President will get away for a vacation this summer—and nothing definite on when he will go, if he does.

Hagerty said Monday that he believed he knew where Eisenhower would go if he could, and added that he hoped to be able to make an announcement regarding the President's plans shortly.

At a later news conference the press secretary said a vacation site had been selected, but that he would have to defer announcement of the location.

Site Picked
The press secretary strongly indicated at both morning and afternoon sessions with reporters that the site picked is somewhere in the vicinity of Cape Cod.

A newsmen noted that Hagerty had ruled out as "not true" published reports that the President would set up a summer White House at Oyster Harbors in the Cape Cod area.

Asked about the Cape area generally, Hagerty laughed and replied: "Now you're getting too close to the territory."

He did say that Secret Service agents have been checking "quite a lot of places" in the Cape neighborhood.

COUNCIL ADOPTS ZONING CHANGE IN COLLEGE VIEW

A controversial ordinance for a change from residential to commercial zoning at the northwest corner of 48th and Calvert has been approved by the City Council.

Attorney Ralph Slocum, in behalf of the applicant for the change, said there is not now enough business zoning in College View to meet the community's needs. He reported plans of the applicant to erect a new grocery store on the corner.

The change was opposed by some nearby residents, represented by Attorney John H. Comstock.

Three ordinances as follow were approved by the Council:

Change in the special assessment ordinance to comply with state law.

Paving district in Gladstone, 48th to 52nd.

Paving district in 56th, Randolph to A.

SYRIAN PRESIDENT KUWATLY HAS FLU

DAMASCUS (AP) — Syria's President Shukri Kuwatly was stricken Monday in the Asian flu epidemic sweeping Syria.

His doctor told reporters the 64-year-old president became ill at a diplomatic reception. The Health Ministry said the epidemic has spread over the country in five days, afflicting uncounted hundreds. No deaths have been reported.

55, Taken From Swedish Vessel, Headed For Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — All 55 persons aboard the ill-fated Swedish motorship La Plata headed for Rio De Janeiro Monday night aboard a rescue ship, the U.S. freighter Mormack Mail.

The La Plata caught fire off the central Brazilian coast Sunday and government authorities in the Port of Bahia said the 7,385-ton ship sank.

But the office of the Johnson Line of Stockholm, the ship's owner, said it was believed the La Plata still was afloat. The office said the Brazilian government had been asked to send a ship to the scene to investigate.

The crew of 45 and 10 passengers were taken off the blazing La Plata in boats. The La Plata was en route to Rio from Stockholm with a cargo of newsprint.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Jose Maria Lemus has accepted an invitation from President Eisenhower to pay a state visit to Washington in October or November, it was announced.

HST Puts Foot Down On Mystery

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — The Truman Memorial Library and museum, newly-dedicated Saturday, had a cornerstone mystery on its hands Monday.

But it was nothing that former President Harry S. Truman, in whose name the 1 1/2 million dollar structure was commemorated, could not handle.

"That paper won't go in the box," he said, referring to a report that a newspaper account of Senate funeral services for the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, a political foe, would be sealed up in the limestone.

A list of cornerstone contents included the May 3, 1957, copy of the Milwaukee Journal was read at the Saturday ceremonies by William H. Utz of St. Joseph, Mo., a Missouri Masonic official.

"Someone just didn't know what he was doing when he put that in there," Truman said.

'Surprised'

Utz said a parenthetical explanation, "included by request of former President Truman followed the Journal item on his list."

"I was just as surprised as you or anyone else," Truman said when asked, "I don't know why they read that off. Only the local papers (the Kansas City Star and the Independence Examiner) will go in, and that won't mean anything for or against anyone."

The copper box inside the cornerstone was sealed only temporarily Saturday. It will not be soldered shut until later this week, giving Truman and his staff a chance to scrutinize its contents.

"I want to make sure of the things that will go into the box," he said.

Utz said he was given the list by an Independence man, George Marquis. Marquis, in turn, said he simply passed it on to Utz from Dr. Phillip C. Brooks, director of the library.

"There is nothing I can say on it," Brooks said.

State Lands, Funds To Put $410,000 In Treasury Notes

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds Monday voted to invest $410,000 in 2 1/2 per cent U.S. Treasury Notes, according to Board Chairman William E. Miner of Omaha.

The board took the action at its regular July business meeting.

Money so invested, Minier said, comes from: permanent school funds, $150,000; school employees savings fund, $250,000; state veterans aid fund, $10,000.

3.97% Interest
The notes will be mature in 1961, Minier said, and if they are held as is the final interest on them will amount to 3.97 per cent.

In other business the board Monday set Sept. 30-Oct. 4 for its annual inspection trip of state lands in central and western Nebraska.

Although a definite itinerary has not yet been decided, the board indicated that a schedule of lease holder meetings will be set up at various points around the state.

GIRL, 6, WHO 'DIED' TWICE, STILL LIVES

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A girl who died twice and still lives lay wistful-eyed in an oxygen tent in hospital, Monday night, clutching a rosary and limply holding her mother's hand.

Six-year-old Maria Toffolon has "died" twice in the past six days. Each time surgeons have brought her back to life by massaging her tiny heart. It is believed to be the first time in medical history that a patient has survived two heart stoppages, doctors said.

The second "death" came late Sunday night during a skin grafting operation. Her heart stopped for 25 minutes. Monday, said her doctors, she has a "better than 50-50 chance" of survival.

"We regard her as the strongest girl in the world," they said.

Irvin Death Is Delayed By Judge

CHICAGO (INS) — Leslie Irvin, so-called "mad dog" killer, won a cross-country race with death Monday night when he was granted an indefinite stay of execution just hours before he was slated to go to the electric chair.

Judge Walter C. Lindley of the U. S. Court of Appeals agreed to the stay at his home in Danville, Ill., following a last-minute hearing.

Lindley said he granted the additional time so that the full five-man Court of Appeals can review Irvin's case.

Irvin was scheduled to die at 1:01 a.m., Tuesday, at the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City. He had been accused of the murder of six persons.

Prison attendants said that Irvin, whose head had been shaved in preparation for his trip to the electric chair, appeared confident that he would not be executed.

'Cocky'

They described him as "cocky" and relaxed as he ate his last meal—a well-done sirloin steak, french fried potatoes, fresh tomatoes, cherry pie a la mode, coffee and smoked some of a half dozen cigars.

Irvin heard the news of the stay in the death cell—20 feet from the electric chair.

An earlier move by defense attorney Ted Lockyear of South Bend for a stay of execution had failed when he found all five judges who could act on the petition were out of Chicago.

However, Lockyear was able to reach Judge Lindley at Danville and the hearing was granted.

70 Arrested

BERLIN (AP) — The League of Free Jurists reported that 70 anti-Communist students have been arrested or expelled in a new police crackdown on universities in Soviet-run East Germany.

The league, a West Berlin intelligence agency, reported 60 students expelled from various universities for opposition to the recent ban on student travel to West Germany.

TAX HIKE CUT TRY SLATED

would have to be paid even without LB 54.

'Assured'
The Farm Bureau said Monday its action "virtually assures the petition campaign," since other farm groups have previously approved such a move.

Charles Marshall, president of the Bureau, said the campaign will be launched immediately.

In order for the petition to prevent the seven-cent tax from going into effect, 56,794 signatures would be needed. Half this amount, 28,397 signatures, is needed to put the issue on the ballot for voter approval or rejection in the November election.

Proof Asked

In its release, the Bureau said the "economic condition of our people does not permit us to passively accept increase after increase in taxes without ample proof of need."

The Legislature approved the gas tax increase, after Renss and opponents of the increase appeared in an unprecedented "debate" before the Unicameral. Renss at that time cited the need for additional highway funds for road construction.

Too, the apportionment to counties of gas tax funds was changed only slightly by the bill which would increase the tax.

An increase in gasoline taxes as highway user revenue also was backed by Gov. Victor Anderson.

FREE ROADS ASSN. FAVORS REFERENDUM

Lou Maupin, executive secretary of the Nebraska Free Roads Assn., said his organization is going along with the Farm Bureau in a referendum campaign to repeal the gasoline tax increase.

The increase "is unnecessary," Maupin said. "The highway department has ample funds to match all federal aid money that is available."

The Nebraska Farmers Union also endorsed the referendum Monday and Elton Berck, president, said the "increase in gas tax means an increase in costs in obtaining supplies and also additional taxes on the marketing cost of produce."

The State Grange has not yet taken a stand on the issue.

The Farm Council, composed of the State Grange, Nebraska Farm Bureau and Nebraska Farmers Union, will discuss the referendum campaign at a meeting Tuesday.

Maddox Named

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. Halley G. Maddox has been appointed deputy commander in chief of the U.S. Army in Europe the Army said.

Maddox formerly held the post of chief of staff under Lt. Gen. H. I. Hodes, who is commander in chief of the U.S. Army in Europe. Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher, former U.S. commander in Berlin, succeeds Maddox as chief of staff.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge Is Dead At 78

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, the nation's first lady from the death of President Warren G. Harding until the inauguration of President Herbert Hoover, died Monday at the age of 78.

Doctors said heart failure, after several years of failing health, was the cause of death. Her son, John, was with her during the night and the early morning when she died.

After funeral services Wednesday afternoon in Edwards Congregational Church in Northampton, followed by cremation Thursday, her ashes will be sent to Plymouth, Vt., for burial Friday beside the graves of her husband and their other son, Calvin, who died at 16.

Mrs. Coolidge had brought to the White House warmth and charm which bridged the gap between her husband's taciturn austerity and booming spirit which was carrying the nation away from frugality during the roaring twenties, from 1923 through 1928.

She succeeded in adding to her husband's popularity while always avoiding the glare of the political spotlight.

'Rejoiced'
After nearly 25 years of marriage, Coolidge said "she has borne with my infirmities, and I have rejoiced in her graces."

Married at 36 when her lawyer-husband was 33, she gave up her career of teaching deaf and dumb children but never forgot their needs.

Humphrey Takes Some Curl From 'Hair-Curl' Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey said Monday he does not see anything in the economic picture now to make him "anticipate we would have a 1929-type catastrophe or a 1930-type depression."

In this comment to the Senate Finance Committee, the secretary appeared to take some of the curl out of his "hair-curling depression" remark of last January.

At that time, he said that if the huge, increasing federal budgets continue over a long period, there could be a depression which would "curl your hair."

But Monday he said "I think we've learned to avoid the excesses on the upside so we don't have to have them corrected by such severe excesses on the downside."

Plan To Alter O St. Parking Held For Week

The City Council has laid over for one week a proposed change from angle to parallel parking along O from 10th to 27th.

The delay came at the request of Harry J. Krusz & Co. public relations firm. The organization is making a detailed study and analysis of the entire downtown area for a group of merchants.

The parking change is the recommendation of Police Capt. Willis Manchester and also has the backing of George Barton, Chicago, consulting traffic engineer for Lincoln, and the Traffic Commission.

Reduce Accidents

Manchester told the Council that the change would materially reduce accidents, increase the capacity of the street and facilitate the use of a third lane at intersections for right-hand turns.

In the past year, he said, there have been 238 accidents on O from 10th to 17th, many of them a direct result of diagonal parking.

From 10th to 17th, Manchester proposes to use pair parking and from 17th to 27th the standard parallel parking.

Council Receives Ordinance To Add Areas To Lincoln

An ordinance has been introduced to the City Council for the annexation to the city of areas at 62nd and South and at 60th and O.

The one proposed tract of land runs 300 feet deep along the south side of South from 62nd to 67. All but one of the lots involved are developed and all are served with city water and sewers.

The other tract is a 40 acre piece between O and R from 60th to 63rd. One of the purposes of this annexation is to give the city responsibility for maintenance of O from 60th to 63rd, now a state job.

Other ordinances introduced: Change in zoning from residential to commercial at the northeast corner of 48th and Calvert. Paving district in 61st, South to Normal. Paving district in Hartley, 9th to Lewis. Paving district in 11th, Benton to No. Park Blvd. Graveling district in Benton, Touzalin to 61st.

U.S. Witness Against Hoffa Said Fired By Florida Probe Unit

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—John Cye Cheasty, a key figure in the government's case against Teamster Union leader James Hoffa, was fired last December by a Florida legislative committee for allegedly padding expense accounts, Sen. Charles E. Johns, committee chairman, said Monday.

Cheasty, a New York attorney, was hired by the Florida legislative committee as an investigator to investigate the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and other groups suspected of stirring up racial disputes.

He said he resigned Dec. 13, 1956, for the announced reason of personal business conflicts with his committee work.

Cheasty recently was quoted in news dispatches from Washington as saying he quit his Florida job because he could not work with two "skunks" employed by the committee, chief counsel Mark Hawes and investigator R. J. Strickland.

The committee Monday authorized Johns to disclose the "facts" of Cheasty's resignation because his quoted statements reflected upon the integrity of the committee.

"A meeting of the committee was held in Orlando, Fla., Dec. 11, 1956, and it was revealed to the committee that Mr. John Cye Cheasty, chief investigator, had filed what appeared to be several excessive expense accounts in which mileage was claimed that appeared to be inconsistent and impossible in the discharge of his duty," Sen. Johns of Starke said in a statement.

"After discussion, the committee voted unanimously to request the resignation of Mr. John Cye Cheasty as chief investigator, effective Dec. 15, 1956."

Peaceful

Cheasty was not available in Washington for comment on Johns' statement.

Cheasty has previously testified that he had helped bring about a peaceful settlement of the bus boycott at Tallahassee. After his experience there, Cheasty said, he was hired by the legislative committee probing race relations.

He said "the situation in Florida had become very tense over integration," but there were a number of people in the state who were "good, cool headed, sensible people" who wanted a solution.

Cheasty said he had disagreements with Hawes and Strickland, the other two investigators.

Testifying in court, Cheasty said Hawes considered him to be "a damned Yankee" and that Hawes put Strickland to work "investigating me." This resulted, Cheasty said, in charges to the legislative committee that he had failed to carry out orders and padded his expense accounts.

When this happened, Cheasty said he quit because he was convinced Hawes and Strickland didn't want any solution to racial problems.

"I wasn't going to work with two skunks like that and louse up the committee's work," Cheasty testified. "That's the language I used when I resigned."

Jury Locked Up

WASHINGTON (INS) — Judge Burnita Matthews ordered the jury in the James R. Hoffa case locked up Monday night for the first time since the trial of the teamster official started two weeks ago.

The jurist gave no reason for confining the jurors to the Federal Courthouse in the District of Columbia, and attorneys for both sides said they had not requested the move.

Chief defense counsel Edward Bennett Williams asked that the record show it was done over his objections, and he told newsmen he had never before seen a jury locked up in a non-capital trial.

When one juror complained, Judge Matthews said the U. S. Marshal would take care of any inconveniences.

Only one witness has been called so far in the trial of Hoffa and co-defendant Hyman Fischbach on charges of conspiracy and bribery to place a spy on the staff of the Senate Labor Racketeering Committee.

Mrs. Deloris Pearson of 442 So. 25th has filed a $12,000 personal injury suit in Lancaster District Court against the Yellow Cab Co. at Lincoln and James R. Boling.

Suit arises out of a April 2 traffic accident at 11th and H, while Mrs. Pearson was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Keith.

Plaintiff alleges the defendant's cab, driven by Boling, struck another car which careened into the Pearson car. The Pearson vehicle was stopped at the intersection.

Escape Nets Inmate 11½ More Years

John C. Eutzy, 19-year-old inmate from Omaha, was sentenced to an additional 11½ years in the State Penitentiary on charges arising from his June 3 escape from the Reformatory.

Lancaster District Judge John L. Polk sentenced Eutzy to 10 years for "assaulting, threatening and detaining a person by an inmate" and 18 months for escape. Eutzy, who pleaded guilty to the two charges, is the first man to be sentenced under the Nebraska "inmate hostage" law since its 1955 emergency passage following the 65-hour Penitentiary rebellion two months earlier.

At Gun Point

Under that law, Eutzy was charged with forcing Adolph Newman at gun point to drive him to the farm home of Mrs. Nellie Sullivan near Denton.

Eutzy, who held Mrs. Sullivan, her two-year-old granddaughter and another woman at the farm home, surrendered after state troopers and sheriff's officers surrounded the farmhouse.

Judge Polk ruled the two terms are to run consecutively at the expiration of Eutzy's present 18-month term given Jan. 11, 1957, for auto theft.

Eutzy received the minimum ten-year term on the inmate hostage charge. Maximum is 50 years.

Nathan Leopold Makes 4th Plea For Parole Today

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, serving an 85-year prison sentence for the 1924 thrill-slaying of "Bobby Franks, Tuesday will make his fourth plea for parole.

Leopold, now 52 and balding, will not be present at the hearing before the State Parole Board.

One of his lawyers, Elmer Gertz, said he will stress that Leopold, now considered a model prisoner at Stateville Penitentiary, has been punished sufficiently and that he has had offers of several jobs. One of the jobs reportedly is head of a manufacturing firm's foreign department and another as a laboratory technician.

Leopold's first parole plea was denied in 1953. Requests for rehearings were denied both in 1955 and 1956.

Leopold and Richard Loeb, both brilliant students and sons of wealthy parents, were convicted in 1924 of the Franks murder after a sensational trial and sentenced to 99 years. Loeb later was killed in prison by another inmate.

Former Gov. Adlai Stevenson commuted Leopold's sentence to 85 years for his work in war time malaria experiments.

Legislative Interim Groups To Be Told Later This Week

Legislative Council appointments to interim study committees have been made but will not be announced until later this week, according to Jack Rodgers, Council director of reference and research.

Rodgers said public announcement of the appointments would have to wait "until the senators are personally informed."

Speculation circulated that Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff would be named to head a tax study committee, but there was no official confirmation.

It Is The Second Cost

The Nebraska Citizens Council, by a mathematical formula of its own devising, has concluded that Nebraska taxpayers would put up 90 cents of every dollar spent under a federal aid to education program. On the basis of that it has sounded a formidable warning to any who might be tempted to think federal aid is bonus money.

In brief, the formula adds to the state's matching fund the subsequent tax money Nebraskaans will send into Washington to help provide the money the federal government proposes to hand back to the state. The Council did not state whether it applied softening factors such as the added taxable income brought about by pumping a substantial number of millions into the Nebraska economy. Nor did it state whether it had computed any makeweight for an improved educational program which would make better earners and better business administrators of Nebraskaans, plus the economic benefits that usually go with more enlightenment. But the formula was sufficiently objective to give thoughtful Nebraskaans some panic pangs relative to the state's multi-million dollar interstate highway program which by the inevitable logic of the Council's point of view must be largely paid for by Nebraskaans.

It is proper to give reminders of initial cost. But it is probable that a better case against federal education could be made by realistic computations of the state's capacity to pay the yearly overhead for an education system that conceivably would become too big for the state's reasonable capacity. A heavily eating elephant or a luxurious private yacht are dubious gifts to a man who simply can't afford a load of hay a day or the pilot charges to get his ship out of port. It seems that the pro and con of federal aid to education has as a prerequisite a careful and dispassionate study of the state's reasonable capacity for maintenance of the daily business of teaching the young. Certainly Nebraska can pay somewhat more than it is now paying, but how much more is what will determine how much to invest.

Forgotten Cities

There may be no objection from anyone if Nebraska's rural electrification districts undertake to contract with Nebraska communities, naturally the bulk of them small towns and confronted with very considerable difficulties in developing a distribution system of their own, to say nothing of generation of electricity. But it should not be forgotten Nebraska's rurals have a first responsibility to the anticipated increase of the rural regions which is not to be taken lightly.

An Agriculture Department survey shows that farmers are using more than twice as much electricity now than they did 10 years ago. It said that 21,000 representative producers in all parts of the country used a monthly average of 405 kilowatt-hours last year compared with 196 for the 1947-49 average. This increase was said to reflect expansion in use of electrical power for doing farm chores.

And this increase is only the beginning. More and more the man on the farm and his wife will step up the use of electricity. The great unexplored field for the rurals is not the small town which has reached its peak in so many cases in population and has only one direction in which to go. The market which will strengthen the rurals economically is that growing use of electricity on the farm which, having doubled in the last 10 years, may double again in the next 10. Too many associated with the rural electrification districts in Nebraska seem to have their eyes on the wrong horizon.

Nor are these little towns necessarily a pawn between the Consumers Public Power District and the rural electrification districts. They are the customers. Consumers at this time speak for them and should speak firmly and insistently. But failing to do so, then Consumers has neglected its responsibility and some other organizations may have to come into the picture. It does not necessarily follow, much as we think REA is one of the great developments of our time and worthy of every encouragement, that REA should seek to gobble up corporate cities which do not desire to be absorbed. This is simply to suggest in kindest spirit that neither Consumers nor REA should forget that in much of their discussion, they seem to have overlooked the forgotten communities.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Borrowing from Shakespeare, methinks Gov. Anderson doth protest too much. We cannot speak for other Nebraskaans but we are getting a little bit tired of the governor's constant harangue about the power he needs in order to administer the affairs of Nebraska economically. Now it appears he may even have to run for reelection in order to cut legislative appropriations where he thinks they should be cut by submission of a constitutional amendment. The governor may have started out with a hard-tack budget in all good conscience but there were instances where the legislature cut more deeply than he himself, and its cuts involved considerable sums of money.

In the case of one of three largest spending agencies in the state, for example, the legislative appropriations committee slashed the appropriation a million dollars below the governor's figures—the largest single cut in the budget. The governor wanted to take it out on building levies and on a teachers' retirement fund. He may or he may not have been right in the conclusions reached by him—but right or wrong, the governor's imagination is working overtime if he concludes he conducted a spirited last-ditch fight to preserve a hard-tack budget. The governor stood by while the salaries of all of his code heads shot skyward—and perhaps he had no other choice if he were to retain competent help—but it is a little bit more than a patient people should be called upon to swallow when the chief executive keeps harping about how he sought to promote a hard-tack budget, or economy, and a saucy, wicked, nonpartisan legislature reached in to upset all of the governor's fine plans for economy. There is no reason in the world why he should not seek re-election if he wants to. If he does he must take the same risk as any candidate for public office, which means that he can lose. No candidate has a guarantee of re-election simply by announcing he is able to throw his hat in the ring or by indicating that at some future date he will become a candidate for the office he now occupies.

The governor finds himself burdened with a record all-time budget—a record budget largely because of federal funds which will become available in the next biennium but which are already in the process had to be appropriated. Simply because Gov. Anderson feels that he should be given the authority by constitutional amendment to slash appropriations in signing an appropriation bill is not any sound argument for the unique, novel, and unheralded proposal that he advances. We might even grant that as a governor, Mr. Anderson deserves a vote of confidence for absolute authority over the legislature and all the rest of us when it came to spending, but if that were true it does not follow that subsequent governors are to be given a similar broad grant of authority.

Before he goes popping off, Gov. Anderson, it would seem, needs some sound advice about the powers and authorities of the office he occupies. Until he came along Nebraskaans were willing to grant him powers of recommendation to the legislature on what Nebraska should and should not spend. They were willing to grant him the veto power on the appropriation bill itself—to decree that a healthy part of the legislature had to reach agreement on the funds to be appropriated—and finally to make it terribly tough to override a governor's veto once a governor had decided to use a veto. Now, it's a little bit extraordinary for a governor to insist upon both executive and legislative authority, for that is what Gov. Anderson's trial balloon adds up to in the end. He not only wants to recommend and advise and to stick closely to the legislature throughout a session but he wants to have the sole power, apparently, to determine what shall or shall not be spent. What he wants to establish here in Nebraska is one-man government, with the governor in the position to exercise an autocratic power no man should have and which the governor's record certainly does not deserve.

He talked about a hard-tack budget but he lost his fight when he failed to act when by acting it could have meant something. He, better than anyone else, knows the meaning of that reference. He could not expect to tell all the small influential agencies to fall into line and then swallow his own words when another seeking infinitely more funds told the governor he had hit bedrock in the beginning. He lost then and there and he continued losing as the session wore along.

FBI Bill Sets Back Judicial Procedure

WASHINGTON—Sincere, scholarly Joe O'Mahoney, the Democratic Senator from Wyoming, argued at length on the Senate floor recently that it was dangerous to rush legislation through Congress, that the Senate must never bypass its own Senate rule 14 requiring legislation to go to an appropriate committee. He was talking about the civil rights bill, recently passed by the House.

Last week, however, the same Senator O'Mahoney rushed the so-called "FBI Bill" through the Senate Judiciary Committee in record time, only to have other colleagues prove the truth of what he had argued before—that haste makes for sloppy legislation.

For the FBI bill, jammed through the Judiciary Committee of both houses allegedly to protect FBI files, is now found to have alarming loopholes which would set back judicial procedure in the United States for many years.

Sens. Sam Ervin of North Carolina and John McClellan of Arkansas, both former judges, seemed a little concerned over the haste when the bill came before them in the Judiciary Committee. Now southern legal experts point out that, if the civil rights bill passes, the south will benefit most from the right to examine pertinent portions of FBI files. For it will be the FBI which will be sent south to investigate violations of civil rights.

Senator Ervin has spent weeks arguing for the right of jury trial. But either in jury trials or in trials before a judge, defense lawyers now have the right under Supreme Court rulings to examine earlier statements made to the FBI in order to impeach the testimony of witnesses. The FBI bill would curtail that right.

Yet Sens. James Eastland of Mississippi and Olin Johnston of South Carolina, both members of the Judiciary Committee and vigorous opponents of civil rights, were among those who wanted to okay the FBI bill in record time.

When Attorney General Brownell testified before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee, Senator O'Mahoney asked: "Are there any further questions?"

"Yes," replied Aubrey Gasque, counsel of the subcommittee. "I should like to ask the Attorney General whether it is true that this bill merely clarified the Jencks case, and does not change other judicial proceedings."

Mr. Brownell did not answer yes, as expected. He hemmed and hawed, finally replied:

"The bill speaks for itself."

"Well, I can answer that question," volunteered chairman O'Mahoney. "That's exactly what the bill does."

The bill had been handed O'Mahoney by Bill Rogers, handsome, popular assistant to Brownell, and O'Mahoney apparently hadn't studied it as carefully as he does most bills. The scholarly Senator from Wyoming spent weeks defending the Supreme Court when Roosevelt wanted to override it; but this time he spent only a few hours studying an FBI bill to override it.

Legal experts now find the FBI bill would override not merely the Supreme Court but years of judicial procedure worked out by the courts and the American Bar Association to protect an individual from an oppressive government.

The National Association of Manufacturers should be worried about the FBI bill because it would permit a field day to the government in antitrust prosecutions.

CECILE PARRISH SWINGLE

Garden Glances With The Moon

Today July's waxing moon is in the flexed, fiery and barren sign, Sagittarius. Tomorrow morning at 3:36 it will enter the movable, earthy and semi-fruitful sign, Capricorn.

Mrs. Swingle

Thursday afternoon at 1:45 p.m. it will enter the fixed, airy and barren sign, Aquarius, and before dawn even breaks next Monday morning it will enter the flexed, watery and fruitful sign, Pisces. So much for the moon's signs.

During July when it is normally hot and dry in the Midwest, it's best to use the barren days for pulling weeds and destroying unwanted growth, and on the fruitful days clip matured seed pods for late summer sowing, do cross-pollinating (hybridizing) of hemerocallis (day lilies) or any other perennial or annual you choose. Keep spent blooms from all flowers picked to give your garden a neat, well-groomed look and prune early spring-blooming shrubs. Cut the old flowerheads from your lilies and cut out old and unsightly canes from "Paul's Scarlet" climber, "Blaze," and other climbing roses.

Pictured today is an arrangement in the "Williamsburg tradition" featuring regal lilies and Tarmarix Africana is an 18th century pitcher. The tamarisks are very feathery, slender shrubs or small trees native to the Mediterranean and Caspian Sea regions providing a foliage character unlike most cultivated shrubs. They appear superficially leafless because their scale-like leaves are so closely pressed against their twigs. Cuttings will root very easily in moist sand and they dry superbly for those who are on the look for winter-arrangement material. The flowers, very small, mostly crowded in dense racemes grouped in terminal clusters (panicles), are pink to rosy-pink, but these when brought into the house had a distinct shading of violet that was particularly pleasing with the waxy whiteness of the lilies and they harmonized perfectly with the hues in the old pitcher.

Regal lilies are best arranged in their natural form. By that I mean use them in different stages of development—buds, half-open blooms to full-blown flowers—rather than twisting them into grotesque forms as many an inexperienced flower arranger attempts to do. These beautifully symmetrical blooms happened to be all on one stalk. But four blooms on an individual stalk are not many at all, as many regal lily fanciers will tell you. Over in den, 3230 South 27th St., right now is the most magnificent stalk of regals proudly bearing 22 enormous blooms. I strongly suspect the location has something to do with their size and beauty. Lilies, all and any of them, like a well-drained soil and cool feet. The DeVriendts' regals are at the east of their house where they get full morning sun, are shaded by a screened porch from the noon-day sun and naturally because of the house never, never are overheated by our afternoon sun.

Pleasing companions in the garden for regals are Morden's pink lilythrum and the blue bell-like cups of Platycodon (Chinese bell flower). There are also pink and white Platycodons to plant with regals because they all come into bloom at the same time. The blooms of lilythrum on tall spikes are soon gone as are the regals, but the Platycodons bloom on and on, have long taproots and are difficult when once established to lift and transplant, but do come easily from seed.

Can't Beat Starch

There are some battles a man might as well not fight, and one of them is the battle against starch. I have been an anti-starch man for almost as many years as I have had a tender neck, which is an awful lot of years. I have also been a firm believer in the right of self-determination. If another man wants to thread the top end of his spine up through a rigid collar that won't budge for the strongest Adam's apple, that's his business. I'd rather not.

The origin of starch is one of a large assortment of things I know nothing about. Perhaps it was invented by some pioneer woman who despaired of finding another husband, and wanted to protect the one she had from Indian arrows with the best substitute she could devise for armor.

Wherever it came from, starch has reached its peak of development in this modern age of miracles, along with carbon steel and such other unbending alloys. It used to be that a man had to do when his collar was too stiff was to get it wet in a rain or under a shower. It wilted. Not any more.

Nowadays the starch has a staying quality beyond all comprehension. Get it wet and it becomes just flexible enough to mold itself more closely to your wattles, hardening again the minute it dries.

Women believe in starch. It is not a belief they learn, but rather one that is part of their heredity, like being afraid of mice. Possibly it is a subconscious effort to make upright citizens out of their husbands.

Put enough starch in a man's clothes, and he either has to be upright or prone. There is no middle ground. Any effort to discourage a woman from using starch is a fool's project.

I embarked on such a project shortly after Mrs. F. and I were married. I explained carefully how starch in my shirts made my neck sore, my wrists chafed and my disposition unbearable. I would much rather be rumpled than wracked, I told her. She nodded sweetly, and used only half as much starch in the next wash.

Half a measure of starch is still enough to make a very serviceable stovepipe out of any collar.

Through a war of attrition lasting almost 20 years, I lectured and Mrs. F. reduced the starch content. About a year ago she finally looked at me queerly, muttered something about dunderheads, and abandoned starch entirely. I thought the battle was won.

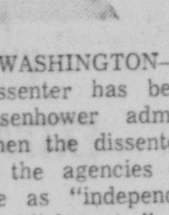

For two whole weeks, I glided in unstarched collars. You should have seen my neck. It could swing like a gun turret in any direction without the danger of being sawed off. I no longer felt the need for wearing a net spread out around my middle to catch my head, if its supports suddenly cut through. I was a happy man.

But you cannot win. It seems that they have a new starch now that lasts six months, after one application. And every three months or so, Mrs. F. forgets to put "No Starch" on the laundry order. I am again, like the rest of male humanity, living in a strait jacket.

DORIS FLEESON

Way of Dissenter From Ike Is Hard

Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON—The way of a dissenter has been hard in the Eisenhower administration even when the dissenter is a member of the agencies created by statute as "independent offices and establishments."

The President has the power of appointment over the commissioners and administrators in this group, and the record is clear that those who venture open disagreement with an Eisenhower policy or chairman have talked themselves out of a job.

Recent striking examples appear in his nominations to the Atomic Energy Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority. In each case the President denied nomination to experienced commissioners but chose instead relatively minor figures lacking in prestige and in special knowledge of the areas in which they are to wield wide powers.

At his latest press conference Eisenhower was challenged to explain these actions. He was reminded that in the last year he had failed to reappoint Thomas E. Murray to the Atomic Energy Commission, former Senator Harry Cain to the Subversive Activities Control Board and Dewey Adams to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

"As a result it has been charged that you do not welcome the right to dissent among these regulatory commissions," he was told. "Would you discuss why you did not reappoint these men and your philosophy of the right to dissent."

The tell-tale red sprang to Eisenhower's temples. He barked that he appointed the best men he could find and that he was answerable to himself for his appointments.

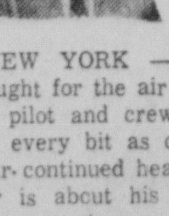

The significance of this exchange and the President's attitude lies in the fact that many of the independent offices and establishments, such as the regulatory commissions, exercise the powers of Congress rather than those of the President. The departments similarly represent an exercise of the President's powers, and his right to set their policies has never been questioned.

They deeply fear and resent the intrusion of politics in such agencies as the Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Power Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, the AEC and others. The economic power wielded by these commissions is enormous. What they have to give away forms the basis of political payoffs under weak or inexperienced commissioners.

BOB CONSIDINE

No One Criticizes The Cautious Pilot

Bob Considine

NEW YORK—A comforting thought for the air traveler is that the pilot and crew of an airliner are every bit as concerned about their continued health as the traveler is about his own. More so, let's say, since some of the lines started serving booze on the long jumps.

We were an hour out of Las Vegas the other night, and leveled off at 17,000, and ready to settle down for the night. The lady in the berth across the aisle had taken her sleeping pill. Somebody commented on what a soothing sound the engines of the big Connie made.

But one instrument in the forest that is the cockpit of one of these great tin birds contradicted the last statement. No. 3 engine was getting too hot. There was a brief burst of flame, seen by few, if any, on the plane. The pilot pushed a button that squirted a chemical solution through the engine, dousing the fire, and he turned it off and feathered the propeller.

We in the plane knew nothing about it until the seat belt sign came on. Three quiet chimes sounded, and one of the hostesses skipped up front. She came back a moment later.

"We're returning to Las Vegas," she said.

There were squawks of indignation, and demands for an explanation of this affront to individual time schedules. But back and down we came for a perfect landing on three engines. As we hit the ground the bad engine flamed again, for all to see. And again the pilot put out the fire on the gas-loaded wing.

Nobody squawked after that.

There would be a three-hour delay at the field nevertheless, the young man at the TWA counter said, after saying how sorry he was about the whole thing. "Would anyone care to return to Las Vegas proper?" he asked.

Instantly, a gleam shone in the eye of every confirmed dice shooter in the party. Here, plainly, was the hunch to end all hunches. Mar loses on dice, leaves Las Vegas in disgust, plane's working fine, suddenly returns. Why, it was all too plain, too much of a chance to let go by.

Only then did the passengers have casualties.

Nothing had happened to the dice downtown, it was soon apparent. They were still the only cold objects in a town that even at night seemed situated in an oven.

The hunch was . . . well, just a hunch.

"Did you lose all kinds of money?" the pretty red-headed stewardess asked of a bedraggled passenger as he climbed the steps of the fresh plane.

"Not at all," he said with the dignity and perseverance of the complete craps-shooter, "only American money."

Need For Suggestions

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Last summer junipers and some kindred evergreens took a beating from bagworms in Lincoln. It is noted that small moths are now clustering about the junipers. Belatedly an arsenal of lead solution helped last year but was not wholly effective.

It would be appreciated if park or college foresters would offer suggestions.

HORACE M. DAVIS

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the July 6 issue of The Star appeared a letter I wrote relating to the medical center in Omaha. I have endeavored to make it clear that WITHOUT tax dollars the people are constructing and operating facilities in Omaha for the better health of all Nebraskaans.

The last six words of my letter as I wrote it were:

" . . . without the aid of tax dollars."

However, these last six words appeared as:

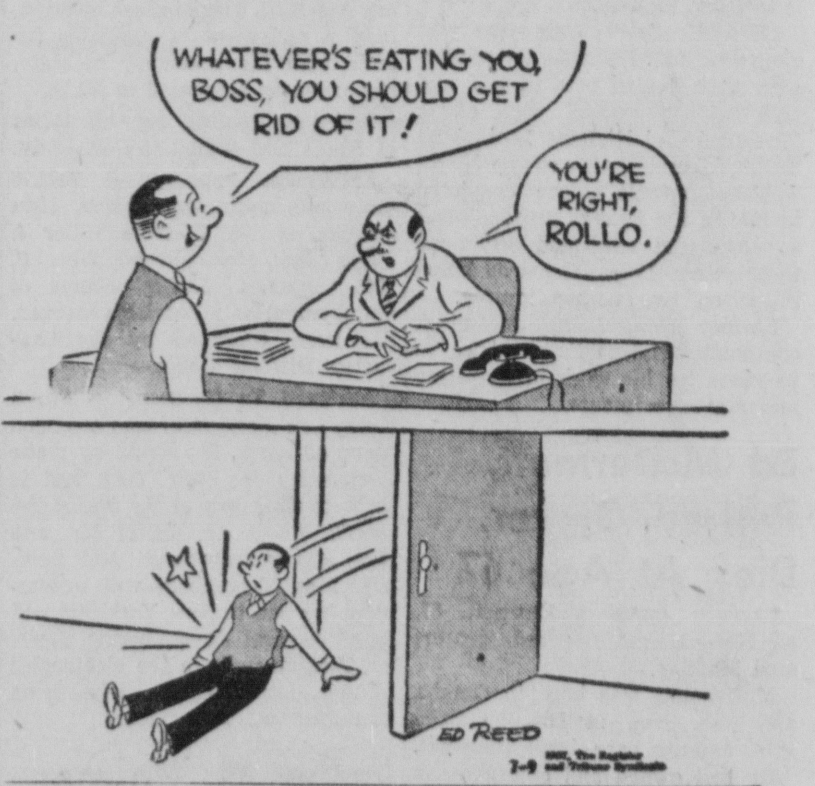

" . . . with the aid of tax dollars."

This completely distorted the real meaning and intent of my message. It is hoped that the foregoing misprint was a mechanical error.

EDUCATION 'MUST PREPARE' FOR TRAVEL ABROAD

Dr. Frank E. Sorenson, professor of school administration, said education must be modified to prepare Americans traveling abroad for the varied geographical and cultural difference they will meet. Addressing the University of Nebraska summer session Monday, Dr. Sorenson said if there is any threat in today's world it is the land-bound teacher who instructs students who in the future will travel abroad with the armed forces. Dr. Sorenson said our educational system must be modified to prepare these students to adjust to the many cultures in which they are forced to live. He spoke on "America Spreads Her Silver Wings," in connection with the third annual National Affairs Preview at the University. Because of the great portion of the world this country is expected to protect, he said, our Air Force has men stationed in many lands and they must face varied geographical and cultural conditions. "On World-Wide Scale" A member of the Civilian Advisory Board for the Air Training Command, Dr. Sorenson said that while these men are still in high school they must be taught to adjust to these varied conditions. "We're living on a world-wide scale, and we have no choice," he said. He said Americans are disliked in many countries, especially Japan and Germany, because we have forced our cultural and economic systems on them. "We're not well prepared to live among our world neighbors," he said. "Every child should take more of an interest in the world community. We should not approach the world's people in a military manner, but must help them to improve their life and we must share our own." Ord Class Of '32 In 25th Reunion ORD, Neb.—The Ord High School graduating class of 1932 held its 25th anniversary reunion with 19 members of the class attending. There were 72 in the graduating class, the largest on record at Ord. All but two of the graduates are still living. Class members from as far away as California and Oregon were present.

American Couple, Now In Paris, Accused Of Spying

By JACK LOTTO
NEW YORK (INS)—Two Americans once employed by the U.S. government were indicted Monday as alleged members of an international Soviet spy ring exposed by a Hollywood producer turned counter-spy.

The dangerous 13-year undercover role played by Hollywood film figure Boris Morros was disclosed by the government when a federal grand jury indicted, one-time Army intelligence officer George Zlatovskiy, 47, and his wife, Jane, 45, the daughter of Dr. Harry Emerson Foster of San Francisco.

The couple was charged with transmitting to Russia—many times through the rotund Russian-born Morros—secret information on American intelligence and other U.S. agencies around the world.

They also were charged with collecting "compromising information" on sexual and drinking habits of Americans assigned in Austria—obviously to pinpoint persons possibly subject to blackmail.

Directed By Beria
The espionage apparatus was personally organized, according to the government, by Stalin's late secret police boss and Deputy Premier Lavrenti Beria.

U.S. Attorney Paul Williams described Morros—who was recruited into the spy ring in 1944—as "a loyal American who acted at all times for the best interests of the U.S. government."

Zlatovskiy, a Russian-born engineer and former Army G-2 (intelligence) officer, and his wife, a one-time employee of the cloak-and-dagger office of strategic services, face a possible death penalty under the charges.

The couple, formerly of New York City but now living in Paris, were accused of working under the direct orders of confessed Soviet spy master Jack Soble. Soble was a personal appointee of Beria, who was executed in December 1953, for "anti-state crimes."

26 Meetings
Morros, 62, who produced such well-known Hollywood pictures as "Carnegie Hall" and "Tales of Manhattan," participated in 26 meetings with Soviet diplomats and spy ring members from 1944 to this year while reporting his activities to the government.

Williams refused to discuss the whereabouts of Morros, except to say he is somewhere in the U.S. Morros studied music theory under Rimsky-Korsakoff in the Soviet Union before coming to the United States, where he was music director at several Broadway theaters before going to Hollywood.

He said Morros, who speaks nine languages, "is not a co-conspirator but will be a witness for the United States."

Williams said the government is "making every effort" with the French government to get the Zlatovskis back home for trial although espionage is not an extraditable offense.

(Zlatovskiy was informed of the indictment by an International News Service reporter in Paris. He indicated he would fight all efforts to return him to the U.S.)

DOWN THE OLD ALLEY

Displaying good form for a beginner, 11-year-old Janet Schweitzer of Raymond gets some good instructions at the Easter Seal day camp for handicapped children which started Monday at Camp Minis-Kuya. Janet seems to have overcome the difficulty of bowling with a knee brace which she wears to support a polio-weakened knee.

She is one of 47 children attending the week-long sessions sponsored jointly by the Lincoln Easter Seal Society and Nebraska Wesleyan University. Children from 8 to 18 are instructed in nature lore, crafts, archery, bowling, swimming, dramatics and marksmanship. (Star Photo.)

Russia Is Cool Toward H-Test Suspension Plan

LONDON (AP)—Russia threw cold water on U.S. proposals for a 10-month suspension of hydrogen bomb tests Monday. It was apparent stiffening of the Soviet attitude on disarmament.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin, told the five-nation U. N. disarmament subcommittee in a 90-minute speech a 10-month suspension would be too short to be of significant value. He renewed Soviet demands that the tests be suspended immediately for two or three years. He insisted that East and West get together to work out some formula whereby the use of nuclear weapons should be finally renounced.

Western delegates appeared shaken by the speech. They asked that no session be held Tuesday while the statement is carefully examined.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, who presided over Monday's subcommittee meeting, termed the speech "disappointing." French representative Jules Moch said it "seemed propagandist."

High U. S. officials declined to characterize the statement, which followed a declaration by Moscow

Radio that anyone who expected "concessions" as a result of last week's Kremlin shakeup would be "disappointed." One U. S. official commented that the speech would disappoint anyone who had looked for concessions but maintained at the same time that Zorin took no backward step.

"Anyone who had expected them to step backward would have been encouraged," the U. S. informant said.

Mixed with Zorin's criticism of Western proposals was a declaration that the Soviet government was convinced of the possibility of a partial disarmament treaty. Russia believes the subcommittee should be able to work out an agreement on such steps as are now feasible, Zorin declared.

He flatly rejected, however, a Western proposal made last week that scientists be put to work mapping out details of how a suspension of nuclear tests might be enforced.

Europe Torrid; 200 Die

Cooling-Off Signs Seen

ROME (AP)—Sweltering Europe counted more than 200 dead in July's torrid heat wave, but there were signs Monday of a slight cooling off.

Britain, Norway and France all reported relief but in Italy, Switzerland, West Germany and Poland it was still hot and humid.

The heat wave had one of its most tragic chapters in a home for the aged at Venice where 15 persons—10 of them in their 80s—died in the steaming night. Doctors said all were in weak condition but the 100-degree heat contributed to their deaths.

Many Drownings

Some Europeans tried to beat the heat by going swimming, and that pushed the death toll up. In West Germany at least 50 drowned. Another 20 swimmers had died in Austria while swimming.

Warsaw reported seven persons drowned in the Vistula River Sunday and 29 were rescued. Among the dead was a retired general of the army, Jakub Prawn, former head of the Polish military mission in Germany.

In Paris, violent early morning thunderstorms brought Monday's temperature down to a peak of 78 degrees, seemingly breaking the heat wave.

Omahan Fined For Flying Plane Low Over Milford

The State Aeronautics Department announced Monday that an Omaha man has been fined for flying an airplane at "an illegally low altitude" over Milford last April the morning after a tornado struck that town.

He is Robert J. Spittler. The department said that Highway Patrolmen Lynn Parks and J. J. Kouttos observed the Spittler plane.

A report was submitted to the Aeronautics Department, a complaint filed with Seward County Attorney Russell A. Soucek and a fine of $25 plus four dollar costs levied against Spittler in county court, the department said.

A department official said that Spittler was attempting to take pictures of the Milford tornado damage but that so far as he knew the incident did not involve any newspaper or television station.

Burial will be in Bethlehem Cemetery near Davey.

Active in civic affairs and in young people's dancing groups, she accompanied her students in many volunteer benefit shows.

1st Southern Baptists Add $6,250 More

To Building Fund

Pledges toward construction of a First Southern Baptist Church building in Lincoln rose to $41,000 with the addition of $6,250 at a kick-off fund-raising banquet Monday night. Goal is $100,000.

The Rev. Tom Hodgins, pastor, said construction of the first church unit, an education building, is scheduled to get underway by Aug. 1. The buildings are to be erected on property purchased at 14th and Calvert.

The Rev. Aubrey C. Halsell of Memphis, Tenn., director of the Baptist building service, spoke to the Lincoln group Monday night.

In 60 Days
He is heading the building fund bond sale drive and expects that the $100,000 goal will be reached in 60 days.

The 200-member Southern Baptist congregation now holds services at the YMCA.

County Submits Plan Raising Free HS Tuition Total

The Lancaster County free high school tuition requirement of $177,600 for the 1957-58 school year has been submitted to the county board of equalization.

The equalization board will set a levy for non-high school districts. Last year's levy was 5.81 mills for $159,731.

County Supt. Glenn Turner said the increased appropriation was sought because the 1957 Legislature hiked the tuition rate to $12 from $10.50 week. For the 36-week school year, the new rate is $432 as compared with $378.

Decline Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted that meat supplies, down about 5 per cent from last year, will decline further next year.

Meat consumption this year is expected to average 159 pounds for each person compared with last year's record of 167 pounds.

The reduction reflects a down trend in cattle numbers on farms and in a smaller pig crop this year than last. Looking ahead, the department said livestock slaughter will ease off more through much of 1958.

Legion Auxiliary To Elect Delegates

Delegates to the state convention of the American Legion Auxiliary will be elected, at a meeting of Lincoln Unit 3 at 2 p.m. Friday at the Legionnaire Club. The state convention will be Aug. 24 in Omaha.

Representatives of Girls' State will be introduced by Mrs. W. J. McVicker, local unit Girls' State chairman. Mrs. C. R. Golding, president, will preside.

City Real Estate Dips $3.5 Million

Lincoln real estate transactions decreased nearly $3.5 million during the first six months of this year as compared with a year ago.

Lancaster County Register of Deeds J. G. Vaughan said 2,298 deeds totalling $17,080,075 consideration were filed from Jan. 1 through June 30, 1957.

This compares with 2,681 deeds totalling $20,490,745 for the same period in 1956.

Vaughan described the drop as a return to normalcy after the 1955 boom year when 6,346 deeds totalling $46,780,070 were recorded. The 1956 total was 5,056 transactions totalling $37,603,935.

Wheat By The Carload Raises 1957 Harvest

Trucks and railroad carloads of wheat kept pouring into Lincoln Monday as the harvest continued.

Robert Puelz, general manager of Equity Union Grain Co. at 940 Calvert, reported his granary took in more than 15,000 bushels of wheat Monday, which represents the biggest, one-day total so far this year.

He said the wheat was averaging about 11.5 per cent moisture and 58.5 pounds a bushel. Puelz said that Wayne Harloff of Seward had the highest yield report so far—44 bushels an acre. Puelz predicted Wednesday will be the peak day for receiving wheat, unless it rains.

Jerry Lacy, superintendent of the West Central Coop Grain Co. at 24th and Fair, reported that wheat taken in there was averaging about 60.5 pounds and 12.5 per cent moisture a bushel.

On the Heels of Independence Day...
The Ground Observer Corps has its' own day July 14...significantly near to July 4, (and the same date as the French celebration of independence, "Bastille Day.") Surrounded as we are by physical and comparative financial comforts, we may forget that freedom, once won, needs constant vigilance. Salute the Ground Observer Corps, representing far more than many eyes turned skyward to protect us. Here is the traditional banding-together of conscientious neighbors with a noble purpose...the same spirit, really, that built America in the beginning!

Chromium Cleaning Tip
Wipe chromium with a soapy cloth. Rinse at once; polish with a clean, soft cloth.

Potato Pancakes, Man's Dish
Mary C. Rouse of White Bear Lake, Minnesota, serves Potato Pancakes this way. Think your man will like them, too! Mix: 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1 tsp. salt, 1/8 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. baking powder. Add: 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 2 tbsp. melted butter and stir. Now add: 1 small grated onion, 1 1/2 cups grated raw potato, 1/2 cup whole-kernel corn (drained). Blend well. Drop by tablespoons into hot greased skillet. Fry till brown and crisp. Mrs. Rouse serves 'em with rhubarb sauce...sounds delicious! You may also serve maple syrup, apple sauce, or apple butter. Makes about 12 small pancakes.

Moppet Project
That recipe scrapbook you've never started can be done by a youngster! Give 'em Scotch tape or glue, and recipes...let them do the rest! May not be done just exactly as you like it, but it's done at last!

"Wood" You Care to Know
Wooden floors can be warped by constant use of soap and water! Seal your floor with varnish, lacquer, or a good wood-sealer. Self-polishing wax or paste wax will do for next time around!

How Modern Are You?
We're all conscious of high fashion in clothes, and we try to buy good fashion to wear. But how "good fashion" is your kitchen, or your laundry room? If you're as practical about your home as you're particular about good grooming, you'll investigate the beautiful new care-free gas appliances. They modernize your room, give you better working space, and much more ease. They're efficient, economical...and beautiful! See them soon, at your local gas company or neighborhood gas appliance dealer.

Silver Glean
Have you a precious silver tray or coffee service? Liquid furniture wax, applied just after the item has been cleaned, will keep the gleam bright. Never, never use liquid furniture wax on eating utensils.

Sunday Morning Special
When you're mixing waffle batter, stir in drained whole-kernel corn and a bit of chopped crisp bacon. Wonderful taste, particularly when topped with butter and maple syrup!

Everybody Gets Into the Act!
Seems as though someone is constantly pouring cold drinks in Summer. First thing you know, the kiddies are fussing with ice trays. You know what that means...water all over floor and refrigerator! With the new automatic gas refrigerator, ice cubes are made for you...no human hands required! To see how smart this miracle-maker is, see your local gas company or your neighborhood gas appliance dealer.

We Live in a Wonderful Age!
No doubt about it...we enjoy miracles of modern living Grandma never dreamed of! Your constant servant, natural gas, supplies the fuel that controls many of these miracles of modern living. Year-around temperature control...lots of hot water, fast, clean cooking...dependable, silent refrigeration. Your local gas company keeps natural gas in constant supply at your house. Another servant, the Northern Natural Gas Company, supplies gas to your local gas company, through pipelines that stretch hundreds of miles.

Afternoon Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD MINOR BACON

Miss Rada Jewell Bryant, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Lowell C. Bryant of Topeka, Kan., became the bride of Richard Minor Bacon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin S. Bacon, at a 4 o'clock ceremony solemnized on Sunday, June 30, at the First Christian Church in Topeka. Lighted white candles, palms and white gladioli formed the background for the service, which was read by the Rev. Mr. Bryant, father of the bride, and Myles Criss, organist, played the wedding music and also accompanied Miss Marcia Brown, the vocal soloist.

As the maid of honor, Miss Marlowe Buenech of Topeka wore a ballerina frock of rose silk taffeta sashed in pale pink with a coronet of matching pink net. Costumed identically in pink trimmed with rose taffeta were the bridesmaids, Miss Joanne Taylor and Miss Carolyn Carlat, both of Topeka. The attendants carried pink carnations and white gladioli. Lighting the candles were Miss Polly Webb and Kent Bacon of Lincoln served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Ron Irons, Elmwood; Nick Roach, Topeka, Kan.; Roger Fisher and Gene Ryan, both of Lincoln.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Bryant, and appeared in a gown of white silk taffeta and Alencon lace. Scallops of the lace traced the V neckline of the long-sleeved basque of lace, and beneath a tucked cummerbund of the taffeta, the skirt flared into fullness and extended into a chapel train. Her illusion veil was held to the head by a cap of jeweled tulle and lace, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid.

Following a reception for 400 guests in the church parlors the couple left for a Colorado wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Bacon will reside at Lexington, Ky., where the bridegroom, a June graduate of the University of Nebraska, will attend the College of the Bible. The bride is a former student at Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kan.

IN THE YEAR OF 1902

There have been some changes since the year 1902—The horse and carriage, the surrey with the fringe on top—the gas street lights, the wall telephone with its side crank—the streetcars, and other things too numerous to mention have become obsolete—including cook books.

A friend with nose for news presented us with a cook book. It is a bit tattered and torn, and more than a little yellow—and exactly 55 years old.

It seems that more than a half-century ago—in 1902, to be specific, the Fourth Circle of the Second Presbyterian Church, decided to earn its contribution to the church by publishing "Tested Recipes." There are no mention of cake mixes, pie mix, biscuit mix—no word of frozen fruits, frozen vegetables, frozen chicken breasts or second joints. There are no dinners all prepared and needing only a quick warming—no browned serve rolls—nothing simple or easy. In "Tested Recipes" one started from scratch, but we found the recipes exceedingly interesting, and we think you will, too.

There are some familiar names under the recipes—Mrs. M. L. Easterday—Carrie Shannon (now Mrs. Frederick Webster)—Mrs. H. E. Wood (the mother of Mrs. Donald Pheasant) and the late Mrs. E. M. O'Shea)—Mrs. Peter Dierks, Mrs. Caroline Dierks—Mrs. O. C. Reynolds, Mrs. Lewis Trester, Mrs. W. J. Bryan—just to mention a few. There also is a name that will have a familiar ring to any resident who attended Elliott school around the time the cook book was published—it is that of Mrs. M. E. McKinnon who, we are told, was the principal at Elliott for a number of years.

The book runs the gamut from soup to nuts—literally and figuratively, but we are particularly fascinated by one recipe contributed by a lady known only as Mrs. P. The recipe is for "Pig's Cheek", which, according to Mrs. P., "is smoked and boiled like ham with vegetables. Boiled cabbage or parsnips may be served with it."

And here, under the signature of Mrs. H. C. Luckey, is something delectable in the way of a Devil's Food cake:

Date Named

Miss Deanna Baxter of Grand Island, Delta Delta Delta at Nebraska announces that her marriage to Duane Eversoll will take place on Saturday, Aug. 31, at the Trinity Methodist Church in Grand Island.

WHEN there is conversation involving homecomers—a word or two about people who are away for the summer—guests, and guest courtesies, there is no lag in the news.

This morning we have a bit of everything to mention, and we'll begin with the guests—

WE HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. William Greer arrived in Lincoln a few days ago for a visit with Mrs. Greer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Grabill—and we also learned that Mr. Greer had returned to his home in Madison, Wis., but that Mrs. Greer had remained in town for a longer stay.

On Wednesday Mrs. Greer will be complimented when Mrs. W. T. Roberts entertains at luncheon at the University Club.

Luncheon places will be arranged for 10.

ANOTHER of Lincoln's guests, Mrs. Charles Melker of Hannibal, Mo., formerly of Lincoln, also will be honored on Wednesday when Mrs. John W. Dehant is a luncheon hostess at the University Club. A guest six-some has been invited.

SPEAKING of courtesies brings to mind an August bride-elect—Miss Marie Louise Nichols of Beatrice (Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska) whose marriage to Samuel T. Haupt of Lincoln will take place on Monday, Aug. 12. The numerous parties in Beatrice have almost made commuters out of Mr. Haupt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Haupt, who have been back and forth countless times during the past weeks.

Mrs. Haupt will be going to Beatrice again on Thursday to attend the morning coffee for which Mrs. W. W. Cook and her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Schiermeyer, will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Cook.

THE HOMECOMERS we mention are Dr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Pool and their niece, Miss Eloise Pool. Dr. and Mrs. Pool and Miss Pool have returned from Vermillion, S. D., where Dr. Pool devoted his time to the University of South Dakota where he gave several lectures before the Institute of Science and Mathematics, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

We suspect that Miss Pool found the Institute almost as interesting as her uncle. She is an instructor of math at the University of Nebraska.

SOMEONE told us that Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Twiford and their three children, Steve, Donna and Cheryl, are spending some time in East Lansing, Mich., where Dr. Twiford is teaching Special Counseling at Michigan State.

The Twiford family will be returning to Lincoln later this summer and Dr. Twiford will resume his duties as State Supervisor of Vocational Education and Guidance.

MUST open our guest book again to tell you that arriving at dawn this morning were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, all of Salt Lake City, who are spending today in Lincoln as the guests of Mrs. Richards' aunt, Mrs. H. H. Harley. Mrs. Richards, by the way, is a former Lincoln resident, and will be remembered as Adele Gustin, daughter of Mrs. Dora Harley Gustin.

This evening Mrs. Harley will be a hostess when she entertains her out of town guests foursome and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Towne at dinner at the University Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Henderson are en route to London to attend the joint session of the American Bar Association and the London Bar Association.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. William T. Bedwell (Linda Buthman, Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska) arrived in Lincoln on Monday, and now are residents at 1671 Pawnee. Mr. and Mrs. Bedwell, whose marriage took place on June 9 in Falls City, have been spending the past week as the guests of Mrs. Bedwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Buthman of Falls City, at Whitefish Lake, Minn.

Mr. Bedwell will return to the University in September to complete work for his degree in electrical engineering.

Re-Elected To Office

Delegates attending the national convention of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority at Coronado, Calif., have re-elected Mrs. Fred J. Vogelsang of Lincoln president for another term.

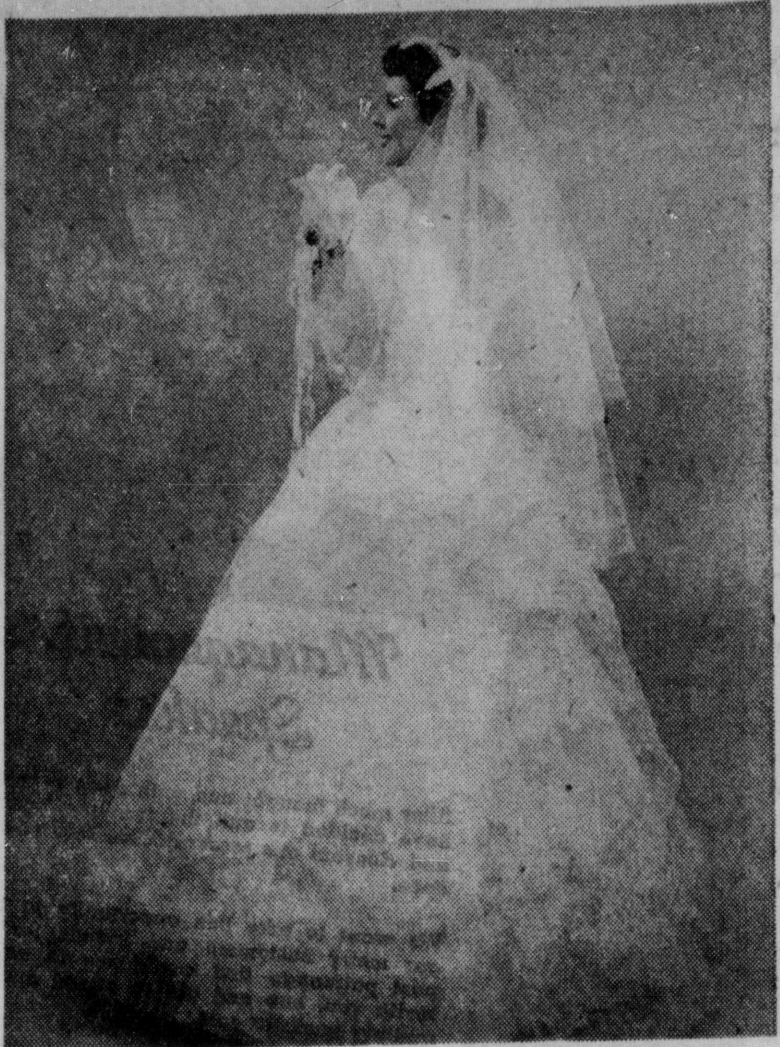

Mrs. Vogelsang has served as head of the national sorority for the last three years.

Former Coed Is Bride

MRS. LEON ERNEST TAYLOR

Arrangements of white asters and gladioli decorated the chancel of the First Methodist Church at Falls City Sunday afternoon, July 7, for the wedding of Miss Elaine Marie Krondak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Krondak of Falls City, and Ens. Leon Ernest Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Taylor of Pender. The service was solemnized by the Rev. John Stayton of McCook, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. Albert Gray of Falls City, and Mrs. William Farmer of Omaha, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocalist, Fred Peterson Jr., Falls City.

Wearing identically-styled frocks of blue satin-striped nylon marquisette and ruffled Watteau bonnets were Mrs. James Mason of Falls City, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Madelyn Hilgenfeld of Dawson, Miss Helen Hirschfeld, Benedict, and Mrs. Harold Myers of Lyons, sister of the bridegroom. They carried bouquets of white and blue-tinted carnations. Lighting the candles were Miss Janice Krondak of Prague and Miss Sharon Krondak of Morse Bluffs.

Lowell Taylor of Pender served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Clifford Krondak of Lincoln, brother of the bride; Harold Myers, Lyons; and Elroy Nelson of Oakland, Bill Myers was the ringbearer.

The bride's Period gown was fashioned of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The molded basque of lace was designed with a Sabrina neckline and long, tapered sleeves, and the lace skirt was shirred into extreme fullness and caught into a modified bustle over tiers of pleated tulle which ended in a whisper train. A cap of lace and iridescent paillettes held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid and showered with Stephanotis.

Ens. and Mrs. Taylor will reside at Bremerton, Wash., where the bridegroom, who has completed officers candidate school at Newport, R. I., is stationed with the Navy. Both are former students at Nebraska Wesleyan University where the bride is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta and Ens. Taylor is a member of Theta Chi.

Luncheon

The Lincoln Woman's Club will hold the third in its series of bridge-luncheons on Friday at the club house. Mrs. J. J. Grovert and Mrs. C. J. Campbell are in charge of arrangements for the affair which will begin at noon.

Reservations will not be accepted after Wednesday evening.

On Wednesday, July 3, was Miss Cheryl Snidley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vince Snidley of Overland Park, Kan. Miss Snidley plans to spend three weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Rozmarin and their children.

Last Tuesday found Mrs. Rozmarin entertaining at lunch for Mrs. Norman Scheidt of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Scheidt, whose home town is Lincoln, will be remembered as the former Miss Genice McKeag.

And trekking to Clarkson last week end were Mr. and Mrs. Rozmarin and their children, Marvin, George and Tom. The Rozmarins were on hand for the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mrs. Rozmarin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loukota.

Just received word that we have another name to add to the bassinet club membership list this morning. Arriving on Saturday, June 29, at St. Elizabeth Hospital was Claudia Jean Maser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Maser, who have three other children, Kristi, Craig and Kirk. Claudia's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maser, and Mr. and Mrs. T. N. McElwain of Sloan, Iowa. Her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. McElwain, will arrive next week-end for an extended visit with the Masers.

Summertime Sinbads

With the coming of summer the long awaited time of fun and frolic at various camps through out the country becomes a reality for many members of our younger set.

One of the most popular spots is Camp Lake Hubert near Maynard, Minn., and that is where we happened upon these four lovely Lincolmites preparing to set out for an afternoon sail.

Marriage Solemnized

Miss Rita Hotovy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hotovy, became the bride of Joseph B. Kobza, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kobza, all of Ulysses, at a morning ceremony on Tuesday, June 18, at Immaculate Conception Church in Ulysses. The 9 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Dennis Hotovy, brother of the bride, assisted by Mr. F. F. Downey and the Rev. Vernon Ketter, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. E. L. Gruntorad, organist, who also accompanied the church choir.

Miss Mary Ellen Kobzova of Ulysses, sister of the bridegroom, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marie Rasmussen of Exeter, Miss Lucille Brym, Ulysses, and Miss JoAnn Grouse of Wauka, wore alike frocks of petal pink taffeta snugly sashed with silk in a deeper rose tone. They wore plateau caps in frock shades and carried bouquets of white Esther Reed daisies.

Serving as best man was Stanley Hotovy of Ulysses, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Don McCormick of York, John Davek, Ulysses, and Don Kucera of David City and Gerald Louenroth of Pleasant Dale.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white embroidered organza over net and taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and abbreviated sleeves, edged with embroidered scallops, and she wore long mitts of the organza. Deep tiers of the scalloped-edged organza formed the full skirt, which ended in a train, and her illusion veil was held by an organza cap dotted with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kobza are former students at the University of Nebraska and the bride has been a member of the York School faculty.

Western Drilling Hits 'Subdued' Pace

Completions Reach 389 For Year So Far

SIDNEY, Neb. (P) — Despite an upturn in drilling activity during June, the oil pace in western Nebraska this year is down from the previous year's figures for the first time since 1949.

To describe the situation, state Geologist E. C. Reed has used the term "subdued."

The oil business remains brisk, drillers are active and interest is still keen. But the feverish intensity of past years is missing.

For the first six months of 1957, drillers counted 389 completions in western Nebraska.

That total encompasses 23 wildcat oil discoveries, one new natural gas strike, 124 development oil wells, one field gas well and 240 dry holes.

Last year at this time the completion total was 472 wells — 28 oil discoveries, 153 field wells and 301 dry holes.

During all of 1956, a record 842 wells were sunk into the crust of the Panhandle earth. Present trend indicate a 700-740 well total for western Nebraska this year.

Half-year breakdowns by counties show:

Kimball — Nine discoveries, 82 field wells, 69 dry holes.

Banner — Eight discoveries, 28 field wells, 70 dry holes.

Cheyenne — Four discoveries, 13 field wells, 44 dry holes.

Morrill — One discovery, 13 dry holes.

Scottsbluff — One discovery, 16 dry holes.

Deuel — One field gasser, two dry holes.

Garden — One gas discovery, one oil field well, 10 dry holes.

Sioux — 14 dry holes.

Dawes — three dry holes.

NORTH PLATTE (P) — A culture departments in Nebraska is decreasing slightly, Harold F. Duis, state director of vocational education, said Monday.

Addressing the opening of a vocational agriculture instructors three-day meeting of about 150 from over the state, Duis said Nebraska probably would lose three departments this year, while gaining perhaps one. The trend, he added, has been apparent about two years.

Al Sick of Pender, president of the group, presided at an afternoon business meeting at which reports were made by eight district chairmen.

Members of the "10 year club," those have been vocational agriculture instructors for 10 years, had their annual banquet Monday night.

Omaha 'Hosts' Seven Derby Planes, Pilots

OMAHA (P) — Nebraska's participation in the Powder Puff Derby for women pilots was drawing to a close Monday night.

Seven planes landed at the Omaha Municipal Airport Monday en route from San Carlos, Calif., to Philadelphia in the 11th annual transcontinental women's air derby.

At North Platte, two planes came in Monday afternoon, one left again for Omaha and the second decided to wait until Tuesday morning in hopes of picking up a good tail wind.

North Platte observers said that was all the racers expected there.

Six of the planes were staying in Omaha overnight, in addition to Irene Leverton of Redwood City, Calif., whose plane needs repairs.

Fuel Pump Trouble

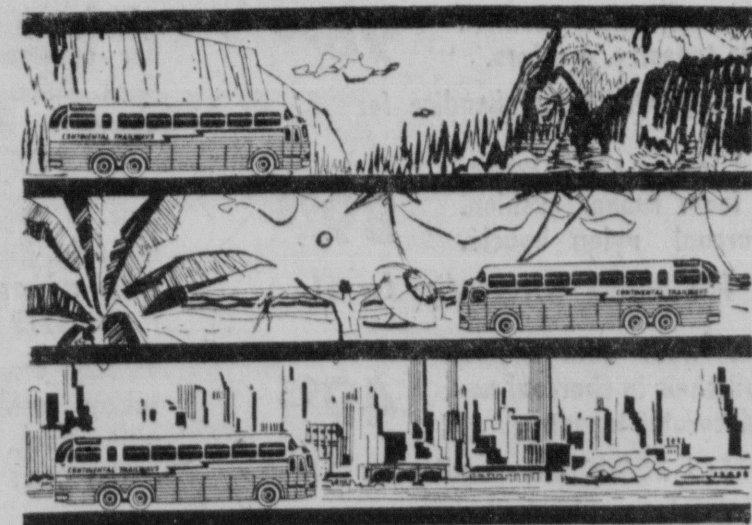

Mechanics Monday night feared trouble with Miss Leverton's special fuel pump and were not sure it could be repaired or replaced here. She arrived in Omaha Sunday morning after "wobbling" from North Platte.

Eleven planes had stayed over in Omaha Sunday night.

The lady pilots have until Wednesday night to reach Philadelphia. The race winner is determined on actual air time plus pilot efficiency versus aircraft capability.

Meanwhile, 23 of the 49 flying teams entered in the derby had arrived in Philadelphia by Monday night. After 5 p.m. Wednesday the derby officials will sit down and compute handicaps with actual flying time to determine who will receive the $2,500 prize money.

First Combine Call Issued At North Platte

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (INS) — The Nebraska State Employment Office in North Platte Monday received its first call of the year for a combine to harvest wheat.

H. E. Alexander, manager of the office, said the request came from J. R. Montross who has six acres of wheat southeast of North Platte.

Alexander said his office has mailed some 1,500 cards to farmers in the region asking that they place combine orders as soon as possible.

Most of those returned have indicated the wheat will not be ready for harvesting for about another week, he said.

Once the harvest is in full swing, Alexander added, two branch offices will be set up to coordinate the harvest, one at Grant and one at Ogallala.

Jim Adams, superintendent of the state experiment station four miles south of North Platte, said dry-land barley is being cut now and that wheat will not be ready until the end of this week.

Progress Is Reported Toward Congressional OK Of Mid-State

WASHINGTON (P) — Rep. Miller (R-Neb) Monday reported progress toward congressional approval of the proposed Nebraska Mid-State Reclamation Project but said that unless some long-awaited reports come through it won't be achieved this session.

"Although dates have been reserved for hearings, nothing more can be accomplished until final reports are at hand," Miller said in statement.

Miller's comment followed submission of the latest supplemental report on the project by the Interior Department. Still to be filed, he noted, are the Black and Veatch engineering report to iron out differences in cost estimates, a report by Army Engineers on flood control and a fish and wildlife report.

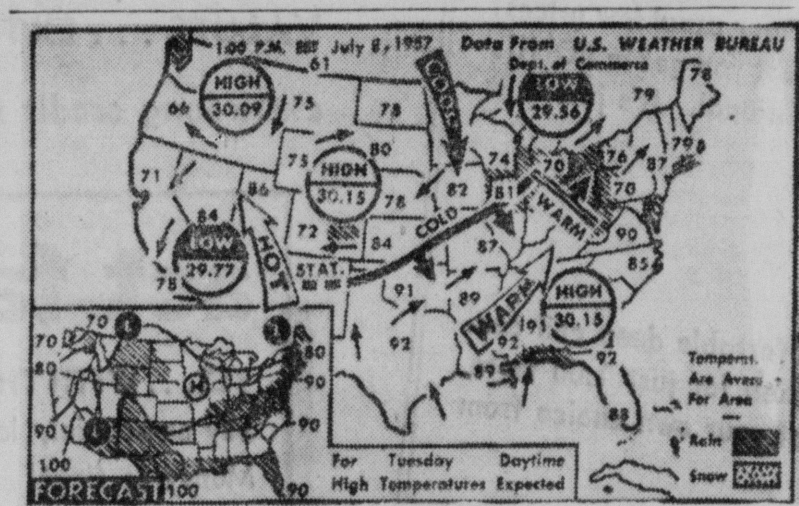

140,000 Acres Involved

The project would cover an area of 140,000 acres in Buffalo, Hall and Merrick Counties in Nebraska. It would include irrigation and power facilities as well as flood control, water conservation and recreational facilities.

The cost estimate, Miller said, has been one of the stumbling blocks to early approval. The original estimate of the Mid-State district in 1955 was $44,612,462. This later was increased to $86,886,884. The latest Black and Veatch estimate bid $68,514,111.

Because of the wide disparity in total cost estimates meetings have been held with Interior Secretary Fred Seaton and others to reach agreement on the necessity of getting all the reports and facts together, Miller said. He said the Bureau of the Budget now is evaluating these reports.

"I know how extremely anxious some of the people are for approval of this project," said Miller. "I can only say that any new project has a long, hard row before it."

Defense Gets Negro Disqualified As Juror In Clinton Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The defense won a hard-fought victory Monday in gaining the dismissal "for cause" of the first Negro appearing as a prospective juror in the Clinton segregation trial.

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor dismissed the talesman, Albert Cloud, 28, errand boy at a Tailor, Tenn., bank, after Cloud acknowledged he "couldn't feel kindly" toward the lone Northern Defendant, Frederick John Kasper of Washington, D. C.

Cloud insisted he wasn't prejudiced and wouldn't be "embarrassed" if he sat on the jury in a major test case over segregation.

No Property

Defense Atty. Robert L. Dobbs repeatedly sought to disqualify Cloud — first on the ground that as a non-property owner he was "not qualified" to serve as a juror, and secondly because he had admitted feeling "unfriendly" toward Kasper.

Judge Taylor refused to disqualify Cloud because of his status as a non-property owner, ruling that it was not necessary to be "a freeholder" to become a juror in a federal court.

However, when Dobbs pressed Cloud with reminders that Kasper had engaged in "many unfriendly conversations" toward Negroes and suggested that Cloud must feel some hostility toward him, the talesman admitted:

"I don't feel as kindly to him as to the others."

With that, Taylor waved him aside, saying:

"All right, Albert. You are excused."

3 Men, A Woman

Earlier, before a packed crowd of spectators, the defense and prosecution agreed on the seating of the first four jurors — three men and one woman.

Judge Taylor admonished the jurors: "If you get any telephone calls from anybody, don't answer them. Don't read the newspapers, and don't look at television."

The first four jurors seated were:

John T. Reynolds, 27, LaFollette bank teller.

W. E. Coker, 67, former justice of the peace from Louisville, Tenn.

Powell May, 64, retired Western Union operations manager, of Knoxville.

Mrs. Jessie Burnett of Talbot, Tenn., former school teacher and mother of three grown children.

Few Negroes

A bare sprinkling of Negroes sat with whites in the middle section of the three-section spectators' seats, solidly flanked by two all-white groups.

Judge Taylor ruled that none of the jurors would be "required" to state an opinion about mixing whites and Negroes in public schools. But he said they could do so if they desired.

Reynolds, the first juror seated, told the court he believes federal court orders should be obeyed, but he declined:

"I don't believe in mixing the races."

On trial are 15 residents of the little (pop. 4,500) town of Clinton, 20 miles northwest of here, and Washington, D. C.

Injunction

They are accused of violating a federal court injunction, issued by Judge Taylor last September, for peaceful integration of 12 Negro students in Clinton High School.

Conviction could lead to a maximum sentence of six months in jail or $1,000 fine, or both.

The overriding point of interest is whether the federal government, through the courts, can get a Southern jury to convict white defendants accused of violating a federal injunction.

Proof of Overt Acts

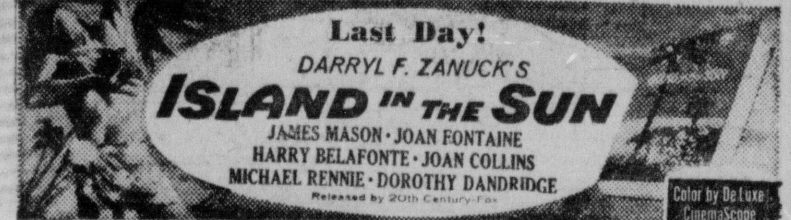

Judge Taylor said the government must prove that the "Clinton 15" committed "overt acts" that they congregated along the path taken by the Negro children going to school and acted "in an unruly or threatening manner."

In addition, he said, the government must show that the defendants "had knowledge and a reasonable understanding" of the injunction he issued last fall.

As the trial began, defense lawyers emphasized their reluctance to have the "Clinton 15" tried with Kasper, ardent segregationist and executive secretary of the Seaboard Council of White Citizens Councils.

Foreign Students Visit NWU

Foreign students who have been studying at U.S. high schools during the past school term stopped off briefly at Nebraska Wesleyan University on their trip to the East Coast and their homelands. They serenaded the photographer with an original song detailing their trip. The words, made up by one of the group included a verse on Salt Lake City where 31 of the 34 students were stricken with flu. The students, second busload to visit Lincoln, were entertained at a party Monday night and will be on their way on Tuesday. The visit was a surprise to Wesleyan officials who were not expecting the second group, delayed by their sick leave in Salt Lake City. Some of the group spent their Lincoln visit in bed, still recovering, while others went swimming, sight-seeing and tennis-playing. Pictured giving their musical version of the cross-country trip are (left to right) Elisabeth Ahlsuerus of Copenhagen, Denmark; Grete Andersen of Oslo, Norway; Franca Smargiassi of Rome, Italy, (composer), and Valeska Von Roques of Berlin, Germany. Japanese War Bride Is Facing Court Battle

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (INS) —A 28-year-old Japanese war bride faces a court battle this week over custody of her three children whom she attempted to poison recently during a suicide attempt.

Mrs. Tomiko Samuel was near death for weeks. She explained she had been despondent because her husband, Sgt. Roy Samuel of the Air Force Base at Tacoma, Wash., asked for a divorce.

The Independence Avenue Baptist Church announced it will receive contributions toward a fund to help Mrs. Samuel.

Douglas Blasts South 'Incubus' In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said Monday night the Democratic party could win sweeping victories in Congress were it not for the "southern incubus."

An incubus is something that oppresses or burdens.

Douglas used the word as descriptive of the southern branch of his party.

In a transcribed radio interview (MBS' Reporters Round-Up), he was asked whether it isn't true that when northern Democrats succeed in winning they bring into the management and control of Congress the southern wing of the party.

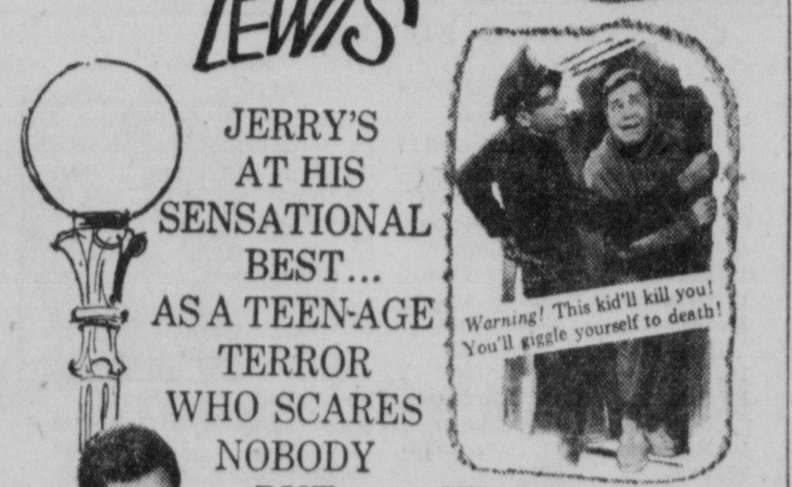

"Yes," the Illinois Democrat replied. "That is the greatest handicap which we have in the north. Sweeping

"The superiority of northern Democrats to northern Republicans is so great that were it not for the southern incubus we would win sweeping victories."

"This is our achilles heel," Douglas continued. "It is the old man of the sea, so to speak, on our back, and it's very hard to know what to do about it."

"Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) suggested that if the southerners keep up their tactics that a number of northern Democrats should simply absent themselves when the Senate is organized next time and let the Republicans organize the Senate."

When a Democratic majority organizes the Senate, most of the powerful chairmanships go to southern Democrats because of their seniority in service.

Ink-Brush Protest

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Provincial Education Department has ruled candidates for middle (high) school must use the traditional ink and brush in literature tests instead of western-style pens. Parents and newspapers are complaining. They say pens are quicker and besides even Civil Service candidates are not required to use the old ink and brush nowadays.

CHIEFS WHIP DEMONS TO SWEEP SERIES

Lincoln Is Only Two Games Out Protest Against Hawks Upheld To Cut Lead

By DON BRYANT Sports Editor, The Star
Lincoln stuck by its reliable formula of top-flight pitching and solid hitting Monday night to swat Des Moines, 8-2, and sweep the four-game series with the Demons.

And to make the night even more joyful, the Chiefs picked up a game and a half on Topeka, which lost to Sioux City, 5-2, and also had a victory taken away when League President O. M. Hobbs upheld an Albuquerque protest.

Hobbs ordered a replay of the June 22 game, which the Hawks won, 4-1, in 12 innings. Hobbs said he is ordering the Topeka win and the Albuquerque loss stricken from the official records.

The league president said he allowed the protest by the Ducks on the grounds that Ray (Red) Smith, Topeka manager, violated his suspension for abusing an umpire by stationing himself in the Hawks' bullpen and having a player run instructions to the Topeka bench.

Thus, Lincoln is now just two games behind Topeka in third. The Chiefs are tied for second with Amarillo in games, but the Gold Sox have a slim percentage hold on second place.

With Bob Anderton—who has been looking tougher every outing—stopping the Demons on seven scattered hits to post his sixth win and fifth in a row, the Chiefs clobbered Demon Freddie Burdette for 14 hits.

Albuquerque moves into Sherman Field tonight for an 8 p.m. contest. It will be the Ducks' first appearance of the 1957 season here.

Sen. Bixler, Swanson File For Treasurer

State Sen. Monroe Bixler tossed his hat in the political ring Monday as a contender for the state treasurer's office.

Sen. Bixler, of Harrison, filed for the office in Alliance on the Republican ticket to succeed the present office holder, Ralph Hill of Hebron.

The Constitution prohibits the holder of the treasurer's office from seeking a third term.

Sen. Bixler's filing was the second for the office, with Harry R. Swanson of Chadron also entering the race for the Republican nomination.

Swanson, a former Democrat, formerly was secretary of state from 1933-41 and was an unsuccessful ful candidate for that post in 1952 as a Democrat.

Bixler Swanson

As chairman of the Revenue Committee in the Legislature for the past two terms, Sen. Bixler has represented the 41st District. This includes Box Butte, Dawes, and Sioux counties.

At one time considered a contender for the First Congressional District, Sen. Bixler has been a strong advocate of the sales tax in Nebraska and was the single signer of the recent gasoline tax increase bill.

Reports also were circulating that former State Sen. K. W. Peterson of Sargent would enter the Republican race for state treasurer. The office will pay $8,000 a year, an increase from the present salary of $6,500.

YODER, Kan. (AP) — A man twice refused a loan got about $3,950 from the Farmers State Bank at gunpoint.

Showalter said the man had been refused a loan when he appeared at the bank intoxicated. He fled in a car.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field offers a frame design that lets you ride within the frame side members for greater roominess, more smoothness and increased safety.
2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for quieter, longer-lived operation.
3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride no matter how rough the road conditions.
4. Only Ford in its field offers new sweep-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch" on bumps.
5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof ... greater safety.
6. Only Ford offers such a savingful car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.
7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with three tubular cross members. There are five cross members in all ... thus enabling the frame to withstand strain and stress from all directions.
8. Only Ford, among all makes, electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.
9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road and weather conditions.
10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust and weather wherever you travel.
11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door assist springs and two-position front door checks for easier entrance and exit.

Stanton Delaplane's POSTCARD

Spain is a haven for South American dictators on the lam. They find a pleasant nostalgia in the land of the olive.

There are four or five recent arrivals. A small building boom is on. For Spain makes sure they bring some of the loot with them. It is done with dignity. And a little of the old olive oil.

"Mr. President, since you are settling here, no doubt you would like to get a little real estate." The ex-President then says yes. Real estate is what he had in mind. He draws a million or so out of Florida or Switzerland. Spain suggests what he should build. Maybe office buildings.

Projects are ear-marked ahead of time. And contractors scan the political news from the Caribbean. Next boom confidently expected any day: Mr. Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Yesterday I was sitting in the lavish and famous bar at the Palace Hotel with Mr. Max Borrell. He said Trujillo had visited Spain recently. He was sorry to have missed him. Max Borrell is an international sportsman. He takes General Franco on all his hunting and fishing trips.

"I was in the Dominican Republic when Trujillo came to power," said Mr. Borrell. "What promises he made us in those days! He was a little man in the Army. I went to Washington personally with an American colonel and got him recognized."

"It was a fabulous life," said Max. "I had a town house. A country estate. Trujillo used to come to stay with me. The whole house surrounded by troops with machineguns. He trusted no one."

"For my services, I had the exclusive Ford agency and the sugar mill machinery agency. I made money so fast I couldn't count it. Then one day, one of Trujillo's brothers wanted the business. They jailed me."

"I tell you that was an experience. Kicked around by doddies for a month."

"One day they stood me against the wall with seven others. They shot the seven and left me standing. My brother came down with four Capone gangsters from Florida. With bribes they got me away to Cuba. I landed in Spain with hardly enough to buy olives."

Max Borrell said he was in the Gredos mountains when Franco called to say that he would be up with Trujillo to shoot ibex.

"Everything I had in the Dominican Republic was confiscated, of course. I boarded a Cuban steamer from my yacht. Out at sea."

"My brother would have had Trujillo shot. But it was the American colonel who got me out of jail on parole. He said, 'For God's sake, Max, just get out of the country.'"

"Now here Trujillo was coming up to the Gredos. A very wild country."

"What did you do, Max?"

"I was cleaning the guns when the security guards drove up. At almost the same time, I got a phone call from Pardo Palace. 'General Franco informs you that President Trujillo has been taken suddenly ill. He will not be able to come.'"

"I told the security guard: 'Climb back in your Cadillac, boys. Go back to Madrid. Trujillo is sick.'"

"Impossible," said the guard. "I was with him just a few hours ago. He was in perfect health. What is wrong?"

"He has been taken by a sudden illness," I said. "He has heard that Max Borrell is up here with a rifle. It gave him indigestion."

"What would you have done if he'd come, Max?"

"I would have helped him shoot ibex," said Mr. Borrell. "What else?"

Hearing Notice Not Needed By County Superintendents

The Attorney General held that a county superintendent is not required, under a new state law, to give notice of hearing by mail and publication.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Gerald Vitamvas prepared that interpretation of LB 589 passed by the 1957 Legislature to answer a question raised by County Attorney Raymond P. Medlin Jr., of Albion.

The law is one of three passed by the 1957 Unicameral to bring Nebraska statutes regarding legal publication of notices into line with recent federal Supreme Court decisions on the subject. It requires that where publication notice is required by law, all interested parties must also be notified by mail, if their post office addresses are known.

However, Vitamvas pointed out, the law applies to courts and governing bodies, and a county superintendent is neither. Furthermore, other state laws provide that while a superintendent must give notice of hearings, "publication . . . is not specifically authorized by law."

Spray Operators Asked To Protect Beneficial Bees

State Entomologist C. J. Walstrom Monday appealed to grasshopper sprayers to pity the poor honeybee.

Noting that several Nebraska beekeepers have reported losses of their honeybees this past week due to the negligence of spray applicators, Walstrom warned that grasshopper killing insecticides "will just as readily kill beneficial honeybees."

"Honeybees play an important part in the pollination of many of our agricultural crops," he said. "If it is necessary to spray fields of alfalfa and sweetclover while they are in bloom, spraying should be done in the early morning or late in the evening before the bees began to fly."

He said that if a yard of bees is located in an area about to be sprayed, the beekeeper should be notified so he can move his bees. "Willful negligence on the part of the spray operator and the resulting destruction of beneficial honeybees could result with a civil suit filed against the spray operator," Walstrom cautioned.
